

Construction and Renovation

The staff review process will begin once the application has been submitted. This process may be performed concurrently with the development review process if identified as a priority project by the Director of Community and Economic Development. The building permit review process typically takes several weeks and involves the following:

